

I think this country is going to shit and the FCC's Michael Powell's complete disregard of public opinion is just more example of the current administration's apathy towards its' citizens. I am dismayed that the FCC's current media consolidation proposal is even a consideration. It is also alarming that Mr. Powell is seemingly only concerned with his OWN opinion. He doesn't even feel the need to discuss his decision with Congress...how is that even permissable? I urge the FCC to reconsider the proposal as it seems that one man is running the show and I am absolutley terrified of what this administration will allow next.
